The Storm on the Atlantic Seaboard

[illegible] August 14.—[illegible] Railroad track [illegible] away and the train [illegible]

MIDNIGHT—[illegible]

NEW YORK, August 14.—[illegible] and gravel and [illegible] reports somewhere [illegible] a break in the [illegible] Canal [illegible] accompanied by high wind. Damage to shipping is apprehended.

[illegible] August 14.—The storm is [illegible] Jersey Southern track [illegible] much damage is reported along shore.

ELMIRA, N. Y., August 14.—The storm in this vicinity is very severe. One hundred feet of bank of the Chemung canal feeder is nearly washed out. Twenty miles west of here this morning the dams of creeks broke away and carried off a dwelling house. The owner of the house with his wife and daughter sought refuge in a barn. Although the barn was not near the path of the flood yet it was washed away and scattered over the field. The man was found at some distance from where the barn stood so much injured that he cannot recover. His wife and daughter have not yet been found.

BALTIMORE, August 14, 2 A. M.—About 9 o'clock the water in Jones' run commenced to rise rapidly and at 12 o'clock Harrison and adjoining streets were covered with water. A large number of families were compelled to leave their dwellings apprehending a repetition of the disastrous flood of 1868. About half past twelve the water commenced to subside and it is now thought danger is over.

Arrival of a Missing Steamer.

The steamer Arndt arrived to-night. She has [illegible] passengers all well.

A joint suit has been commenced in the U. S. District Court against J. R. Platte and R. A. Boyd, importers, 16 Murray street, to recover $100,000 under valuation of imports. Separate suits against each have also been commenced to recover $40,000 and $40,000 for similar offenses.

River Collision.

A collision between two tugs with an excursion on Hudson river last night near Albany resulted in one boy being fatally injured and four others badly wounded.

Work of the Mixed Commission.

NEW YORK, August 14.—Of 427 cases presented for arbitration to the Mixed Commission sitting at Newport, only 82 yet remain unfinished. The Commissioners hope to finish these within the stipulated time.

Commercial Intelligence.

NEW YORK, August 14.—Within the past three days no less than twenty two vessels have been chartered in the petroleum trade, with a carrying capacity of 100,000 barrels, and eighteen vessels in the grain trade with a carrying capacity of 500,000 bushels. The grain goes to Great Britain and the petroleum to the Continent.

The Storm.

NEW YORK, August 14.—The storm continues, accompanied by a light rain. Last night in crowded cellars in the older parts of the city the poor had to stand and battle with rats driven from the sewers by the flood, and their wretched beds were surrounded by water. There has not been any serious derangement of the mails.

Dispatches from the East report a storm prevailing in that section.

The rain made necessary a postponement of the races at Saratoga. The storm broke so unexpectedly on New York that shipmasters and freighters had a busy time making secure their vessels and goods exposed on the docks. About midnight several canal boats broke loose and drifted hopelessly about. But one was lost. The Jersey City ferry house sunk and it is thought some of the crew were drowned.

Slaughter of New York Custom House Officials.

NEW YORK, August 14.—A Washington dispatch says that the Secretary of the Treasury late last night sent by special messenger to Collector Arthur of this port, an order for the immediate removal of nearly 100 Custom House officers—some of them occupying responsible places—on charges of fraud and corruption, and that the dismissal of another lot of dishonest officers is expected in a few days.

Harvest in Minnesota.

MINNEAPOLIS, August 14.—The editor of the Farmers' Union, just returned from a tour of inspection through the State, says wheat threshing commenced a week ago to-day, and all the machines are now at work. The yield in most all instances turns out better than was expected. The oldest inhabitant has never seen so uninterruptedly favorable a harvest season as we have enjoyed this year.

Our Regular Murder.

ST. LOUIS, August 14.—John Broom and George Thomas, two farmers living in Osage township, Jackson county, got into an altercation when Brown stabbed and killed Thomas.

Another Murder.

INDIANAPOLIS, August 14.—At Alamo, Montgomery county, Ind., last evening John Campbell while drunk had words with John Little, with whom he had heretofore been friendly, and fatally stabbed him. Little died in about fifteen minutes. Campbell was arrested.

Still Another.

ALBANY, N. Y., August 14.—Peter Brown of Bath and Thos. Quinn had a fight. Quinn killed Brown by the blow of a chair. Quinn was arrested.

Suit for Libel.

ST. LOUIS, August 14.—Col. Cobb, member of Congress from Wyandotte District, Kansas, has sued F. R. Taylor of the Wyandotte Gazette, for defamation of character, claiming $10,000.

DETROIT, August 14.—Palmer's lumber mill and steam salt works, one of the largest on the Saginaw river, were destroyed by fire yesterday at Saginaw city. About 250,000 feet of lumber and 10,000 pounds of salt were destroyed. Loss [illegible]; insured for $50,000.

Miscellaneous.

BOSTON, August 14.—Daniel Whelton, the convict who assaulted Warden Chamberlain, was to-day sentenced to ten years imprisonment, to take effect at the expiration of his present sentence.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Damage to Crops

WASHINGTON, August 14.—The crops within a radius of twenty miles from Washington were seriously damaged by yesterday's storm.

Currency Matters.

WASHINGTON, August 14.—The recent redemption of U. S. gold coin at the Mint has shown that the abrasion is very great. By the law of Congress the loss falls upon the [illegible] of dishonesty [illegible] Dr. Linderman [illegible] shall bear whatever loss [illegible] defaced pieces where there [illegible] and the coin to be redeemed by the Government at its face value.

Louisa M[illegible], the lady who fell from the [illegible] a few evenings since, died from the effects of her injuries.

EUREKA, August 14.—An accident occurred yesterday in the Richmond mine, resulting in a probable fatal injury to Thomas Murphy. He was engaged in putting in timbers when a quantity of loose rock fell striking him in the small of the back, causing paralysis of the body from the hips down.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 14.—The recent redemption of United States gold coin at the Mint has shown that the loss by abrasion is very great. By the law of Congress this loss falls upon the last holder, whether the loss results from his usage of the coin or in consequence of his dishonesty. Complaints have been so great that Dr. Linderman, Director of the Mint, will, it is said, recommend to the next Congress that Government shall bear whatever loss there may be on [illegible] where there is no evidence of fraud, the coin to be redeemed by the Government at its full value.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 14.—The deputy sheriff of Contra Costa county arrived in the city to-night from Battle Mountain, having in custody William Nash, the murderer of Martin Comstock. Nash claims that he acted in self defense, that he and Martin had trouble about a [illegible] only and not about the wife of Comstock. [illegible] the killing Martin threatened his life, and finally told him to come out of the house and he would fix him. Nash stepped out when Martin fired a ball passing through his hat, then threw a hatchet at him striking his shoulder. He then ran for his pistol and shot five times at Martin, who fell. Mrs. C[illegible] told him to go out and kick her husband in the head. He went out and asked Martin if he would not shoot again or behave himself. Martin said he would shoot when Nash knocked him with a hatchet. He is fearful that he will be lynched.

A Contra Costa sail boat containing two men upset in the bay this evening. They clung to the boat till they were saved by the crew of a ship anchored in the stream.

The Democratic Legislative Convention is in session to-night placing the names of Supervisors before that body for nomination. A letter of declination from Frank McCoppin was read. That gentleman came before the Convention and made a speech in which he said that he was not nor never was a railroad man, that he had fought the company from the first and had also fought the water monopoly; still he did not wish to run and offered the letter in good faith.

The trial of the members of the Hip Yee Tong Society for conspiracy closed this evening. After an absence of thirty minutes the jury returned with a verdict of not guilty.

VALLEJO, August 14.—William, son of D. M. Whittier, aged 14, on Tuesday afternoon at South Vallejo depot, had a heavy timber fall on his leg, breaking it and the ankle and dislocating the ankle joint.

SACRAMENTO, August 14.—At 9 this evening a fire started in one of the wooden sheds in the rear of a row of small brick buildings on the south side of I street, between Second and Third. In four minutes after the alarm sounded a hydrant stream was playing on the fire, which served to keep the flames somewhat down until the engines got to work. Both steamers were quickly on the ground and had the fire under control within fifteen minutes after the first alarm was given. By 10 o'clock the fire was all out. The damage will probably not exceed $200.

SAN DIEGO, August 14.—Lieut. Craigie is now en route to Yuma to take command of a detachment of the 12th Infantry and escort a fourth party of telegraph line builders from Yuma west.

The San Diego Water Company have ordered for use in the great well a seven inch compound propeller pump, with a capacity of 1,000 gallons per minute, from Philadelphia. It will cost $1,800 and will be here in a month, when the well will be completed and supply the city with all the water required.

SACRAMENTO, August 14.—Florian [illegible] was granted a divorce to-day from the notorious Johanna Head, a second street courtesan, whom he married while intoxicated in January last.

Lewis J. Dribblesby, the man recently arrested for robbing a stage between Grass Valley and Colfax, was sent to the State Prison in September 186[illegible] for twelve years from Sierra county. Gov. Haight commuted his sentence to six years and he was discharged in September 187[illegible]. Gov. Booth to-day restored him to citizenship in order to use his testimony in case it becomes necessary.

The steamer B[illegible] will resume her trips on the river about the 1st of September.

Articles of incorporation of the Olympia Railway and Mining Company was filed to-day.

STOCKTON, August 14.—The trial of George N. Bennett, charged with the murder of P. B. Wall, is still engrossing the attention of the Sixth District Court. The principal witness for the prosecution is Minnie Wall, daughter of the murdered man. The girl is about fourteen years of age and testified that previous to her father's death she overheard a conversation between Bennett and her mother relative to an insurance on her father's life, and hearing her remark that the old man must be got out of the way. That on the night of the murder she heard her father say in a frightened voice [illegible] This witness was on the stand for nearly ten hours, a greater portion of the time being subjected to a rigid and searching cross examination. Her evidence is damaging to the defense. Several other witnesses were examined and the prosecution closed their testimony. The witnesses for the defendant will be examined to-morrow.

PUGET SOUND

THE BAY OF SEATTLE

Known in the charts as Duwamish Bay [illegible] In its great, sheltered and convenient deep water, adapted for all kinds of shipping, its central position on the Sound, its vicinity to [illegible] timber mill and coal mines. The tide rises twenty feet and yet at low water there is thirty feet of water at the wharves, so that vessels of the largest size can come in at all hours. The bay is seven miles long and three broad and its channel is from 67 to 105 fathoms deep. The anchorage is from 12 to 16 fathoms and it is almost entirely land locked from any wind that would do shipping any harm.

THE TOWN OF SEATTLE

Is located near the head of the bay on a slope that is favorable for drainage, health and a commanding view of the waters below. As it is approached by water it presents a rather imposing aspect. Its substantial wharves and numerous vessels, the large stores and warehouses, the University and public school buildings, the numerous churches, the residences and handsome cottages make an impression on the mind that Seattle [illegible] considerable business importance and the people of refined cultivated tastes. The impressions are all confirmed by closer observation. The population is at least 2,000 and may be put down in round numbers at 2,500. This town has many sources of strength, permanence and growth that cannot be denied. The deep waters of the bay, the site and [illegible] for vessels and the central position will always secure to Seattle a prominent place on the waters of the Sound. It is one of the great centers of the

LUMBER BUSINESS

On the Sound, the local importance and commercial value of which cannot be easily estimated.

THE SEATTLE SAW MILL

Cuts 30,000 feet of lumber daily and ships principally to San Francisco. It employs thirty men and pays them $40 to $75 a month and board. It expends in wages and other working expenses $[illegible],000 a month. Randolph and Robinson have a sawmill for hard wood only, such as ash, maple, pine, alder, etc. The Freeport mill, owned by J. J. Williams & Co., on the opposite side of the bay, has a capacity equal to the Seattle mill. They ship largely to San Francisco and South America. They own three tow boats, one of which they built themselves. They have built two or more large vessels for themselves and have a bark on the stocks at present for their lumber trade. In the milling and ship-building departments fifty men are employed.

PORT BLAKELY SAWMILL

Owned by Renton, Smith & Co., facing Seattle, is a large establishment and a hive of great industry. This mill cuts an average of 60,000 feet of lumber in twelve hours and 100,000 feet in twenty four hours. It runs day and night almost all the time and employs 100 men. They ship some to San Francisco but chiefly to foreign markets such as Australia, South America and Valparaiso. This company has had a good foreign market for the last eight months. The ship [illegible] is now loading [illegible]000,000 feet of lumber for Valparaiso and the bark Samson is loading 800,000 feet for Melbourne. During the last three months this Company shipped 6,000,000 feet of lumber, and 4,000,000 feet during the year. Three of the ships took 1,000,000 feet each. The Blakely mill is reckoned one of the leading mills on the Sound. It pays $4,000 a month for wages alone. A number of Chinamen are employed for doing the rough work at $30 a month. At nearly all the lumbering mills a considerable number of Kanakas or Sandwich Islanders are permanent hands. They are spoken of by employers as thinking, capable and reliable men in their line as any on the Sound. Not one of them is out of employment thus far in our observation. They do credit to the [illegible] schools in their native [illegible] get their education. There are many white men here as elsewhere who are asking for work and praying not to find it. Whisky and [illegible] squaws, poker and whisky are the curse and ruin of a large number [illegible] a few of the mill hands on Puget Sound. [illegible] the mass of the working men of the Sound cultivated sober and economical habits since the establishment of lumber mills on these waters, there need not now be a more comfortable or independent class of men on the continent, and their joint earnings would by this time have formed an immense capital in the savings bank [illegible]

[illegible]

Is one of the important and [illegible] 12 miles [illegible] the town [illegible] Washington Lake [illegible]

THE MERCHANTS OF SEATTLE

[illegible] Mr. Horton and Mr. Denny are [illegible] among the most valuable citizens of Seattle. In the present tightness of the money market all business is necessarily dull. The lumber, coal and general merchantile business of the Sound feel the pressure as much as any part of the East, but as the tide ebbs it always flows. The future prosperity of the Sound is beyond the possibility of a doubt. Seattle is not devoid of

AGRICULTURAL RESOURCES

The Duwamish river, with its tributaries White, Black and Cedar rivers, are well settled by [illegible] The bottom lands of these rivers are rich [illegible] capable of high cultivation. They are amply able to supply all the wants of the [illegible] Seattle with vegetables and fruits [illegible] There are other districts that trade with Seattle which have extensive valleys of rich and productive [illegible] will be extensively [illegible] as the population increase.

THE TERMINUS

As a matter of course the people of Seattle are very angry at the Northern Pacific Railroad Company for not making their town the terminus of the road on the Sound. They can make out a strong case of deception and bad treatment. In this case as in all matters of a similar kind there are two sides to the question and it is not prudent for a visitor to interfere much in such matters. It is easy to become a partisan and decide accordingly, but to know the whole truth and give an impartial verdict is a different affair. One thing is certain, the terminus at Tacoma cannot prevent Seattle from maintaining its present industrial and commercial standing and its future sure and steady progress. The railroad will open up the [illegible] and the Sound in particular to speedy settlement, to the rapid development of its lumber, coal and agricultural resources as well as the great commercial importance of the latter, in all of which Seattle will share largely.

As an evidence of the pluck, energy and enterprise of the people of Seattle and Kings county they have organized and incorporated a company to build a narrow gauge railroad from Seattle to Walla Walla, a distance of 200 miles, to be called

THE SEATTLE AND WALLA WALLA RAILROAD AND TRANSPORTATION COMPANY

The stock is to consist of 100,000 shares of $100 each. Up to this date there are $500,000 of the stock taken. By the first of September they expect to commence the survey of the line and to build as far as the coal mines and coal fields—[illegible] miles—in the spring and summer months. Outsiders look upon the scheme as a dream of visionary men. Be this as it may, one thing is certain, the people are thoroughly in earnest at present and are united in their determination to support and sustain the business reputation and progressive character of the town. A short time will decide the practicability of the scheme. Their united action, energy and enterprise are worthy of all praise, and are so many evidences of the mental power and public spirit that exist among the people of the Sound.

THE SCENERY OF SEATTLE

The Sound not only stands prominent for its inland sea of mighty waters and numerous large and safe bays, but is equally distinguished for its charming lakes, of which Seattle has its share. Union lake is only a short walk from the town. It is a beautiful sheet of water, fully two miles long and one broad, where [illegible] Lake Washington is [illegible] miles distant, to which there is a good wagon road [illegible] This lake is twenty miles long and has an average breadth of [illegible] The water is clear and has an average depth of thirty feet. The United States navy could [illegible] It has been spoken of as a [illegible] place for a navy yard for the Northwest. These are samples of the attractions of the Sound for visitors, and the advantages that settlers have at all times.

TRAVELING ON THE SOUND

The facilities for traveling on the Sound by steamers are very satisfactory. The North Pacific, owned by Starr Bro., [illegible] Olympia [illegible] Victoria [illegible] The Zephyr runs from Seattle to Olympia [illegible] a week. [illegible]

45,000.

[illegible] named Wright was sent [illegible] at Salt Lake last Monday to the Penitentiary for five years.

The Denver and Rio Grande road has recently let a contract [illegible] the crossing of the Huerfano, a distance of [illegible] miles.

[illegible] Island, W. T., with a spring gun, is dead. He was buried by Camano Lodge of F. & A. M.

It is reported that Fremont county, Colorado, voted the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad $100,000 in bonds by a majority of only two. The matter will be contested.

At Port Townsend on last Sunday the barkentine W. H. Gawley, barks Lammer and Camden and ship Panther all arrived, and at Port Discovery the ship War Hawk.

Capt. Lawson of the U. S. Coast Survey has recently put up a building on Union Wharf at Port Townsend for the purpose of a tide gauge and for meteorological observations.

The Port Townsend Argus is informed that in a few weeks time there will be a daily steamboat service between that place and Tacoma, two boats running alternately, and a boat will run exclusively between Tacoma and Victoria.

Governor Ferry of Washington Territory has pardoned Pierre St. Martin out of the penitentiary. He was convicted in April 1871, of grand larceny and sentenced to ten years imprisonment. He is not yet 21 years of age and it is to be hoped that his term of imprisonment will be a lesson to induce future good behavior.

A company of one hundred men recently left St. Louis to locate and survey an immense estate of rich agricultural and mineral lands in Arizona, and lay off a city on the Gila river on the line of the Great Southern Railway, which will be the depot of all Northern and Southern Arizona and the Mexican States of Sonora and Sinaloa.

Special Agent Wickesie of the Postoffice Department reports from Salt Lake City July 31st that highway robbery on the mail routes in the Rocky Mountains is becoming frequent. He recounts the recent robberies on the Montana route near Pleasant Valley and on the Kelton and Boise river routes, and says: Bad men come to the West with the expectation of making a sudden fortune and, being disappointed, become reckless and desperate highwaymen.

The Olympia Courier of the 12th says: Major Hayden received a telegram yesterday from Governor Salomon at San Francisco, saying that everything was moving nicely for his enterprise. Later in the day a large number of our most influential citizens joined in a telegram to Governor Salomon assuring him of their confidence that our people will increase the amount of land donations pledged to the Northern Pacific Railroad Company and also give county bonds when authorized by law to do so, in case the San Francisco company [illegible] and will build the road.

Puget Sound exports are immense as everyone knows, but few even at home have an adequate idea of their real extent. The Port Townsend Argus puts it pretty strong as follows: For the year ending May 31, 1873, Puget Sound District exported to foreign countries upwards of $728,750. This was carried away in 328 vessels, representing 130,600 tons. Of these vessels 72 were under foreign flags—the balance were American vessels. As nearly as can be estimated there are 1,100 cargoes of lumber per annum exported coastwise. Applying the rule of proportion this number would give us $2,130,200 as the value of our coastwise exports. This sum added to the amount of our foreign exports gives us a total sum of $2,867,059 for exports from this district, and adding the other business to this we find that our Custom House here on Puget Sound is guarding a marine trade that amounts to nearly, if not quite, $[illegible],000,000 a year.

The Tacoma Tribune of the 12th inst. says: Tacoma was thrown into a state of great excitement last evening by a horrible murder within its borders. Two men named Dudley and Flurry—so far as is known neither of whom had the least acquaintance with the other—met at Pennell's place in the outskirts of the town, when Flurry, without the least provocation, drew a six shooter, leveled it at the other and shot him dead. But a single shot was fired and that penetrated the man's bosom just below the heart, passing clear through the body, glancing from the floor against the wall and rolling out upon the floor. Flurry evidently seemed bent on doing something desperate and it is thought would have as quickly shot any other man in the [illegible] as Dudley. After killing the latter he [illegible] his horse and [illegible] surrendered himself to the Sheriff and was lodged in a cell to await his trial at the next term of the court.

New Wheat is making its appearance in the Salem market. [illegible]

The news from up the valley is generally all about the progress of the harvest and the immense yield of the wheat and oats.

The steamboat Success reached Salem last Tuesday over the locks of the Upper Willamette with 40 tons of freight and started down next day with 50 tons of flour.

Farmers are beginning to deliver the new crop of wheat at [illegible] the Cornelius warehouse. The [illegible] is over an average crop. Several Washington county farmers will each harvest over 10,000 bushels of wheat this year.

The Capitol Commissioners at Salem are employing a large number of hands on the various parts of the State House and are rapidly pushing forward this edifice. The foundations are completed and the cut stone for the outer walls is being laid, except at the place where it is proposed to put down the principal corner stone, the ceremonies connected with which will take place, as we learn, on the second day of the State Fair.

Col. Saxe reports the sale of two more of his thoroughbred "short horns," viz: One to Messrs. Fisk & Walker of Marion county, Duke [illegible]—red, some white, sired by the 18th Duke of Airdrie, 7,880. Dam—[illegible] One to Captain J. T. Gano, of Centerville, Bourbon county, Kentucky, who are of the best and most reputable breeders of Durhams in the State. These cattle, we are informed, are of the famous Duchess-Bates blood, which ranks foremost as milking and beef stock in the United States and England.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

The Colonist rejoices that Victoria is to have a street sprinkler.

Madame Anna Bishop and operatic troupe arrived in Victoria on the Prince Alfred, and are giving a series of concerts at that place.

The Princess Louise, in tow of the Goliah, arrived in Royal Roads on Saturday, bound from Moody's Mill, Burrard Inlet, lumber laden for Callao.

Burrard Inlet has had from six to ten ships loading lumber for different parts of the world for the last eight months, and the mills have been working steadily day and night.

The local press thinks the Victoria Fire Department should be relieved from the burden of dragging their heavy engines to fires by the employment of horses for that purpose.

The treasure shipments per Prince Alfred on her last trip from Victoria were: Bank of British North America, $33,614 38; Bank of British Columbia, $12,029 71; F. Garesche, $4,651 10. Total, $50,295 19.

To Mr. Finney, of Nanaimo, has been awarded the contract for erecting a beacon on Gabriola Island, which is opposite Nanaimo, for the sum of $1,175. The Chain Island beacon was awarded to Mr. W. Williams, for $300.

Lumley Franklin, ex-Mayor of Victoria, and who was widely and popularly known throughout the Province, died at San Francisco on the 3d, and it is said that for several days before death he was unconscious from the effects of a paralytic stroke met with a few weeks previous to his decease.

The Victoria Silver Mining Company, at Isolbick below Hope, are employing a party of six miners under the direction of Mr. Watson. They are to prospect the mine thoroughly, and have a year's time wherein to do it. They have already sunk twenty feet upon the lead which promises to be as well defined as it is rich.

The Colonist of Tuesday last says the dead body of Martin, the young Swiss who went crazy and wandered off to Beacon Hill, was found yesterday on the beach opposite the grand stand. It had been frightfully knocked about by coming in contact with the rocks. It is supposed that he threw himself into the sea near where the body was found, and drowned.

A Chilliwhack correspondent says: There are five men here with families looking for land. There is a very strong feeling against the Government on the land sale question, and the Ministry never were in worse odor than at present in this vicinity. The Ministry of Finance and Agriculture has blundered in this scurvy attempt to do something for his salary, and not a dozen returns will be made from this place.

HENRI ROCHEFORT.—The career of the man whose name stands above has been a checkered and remarkable one. A Count of the old aristocracy of France, he is now, as a condemned Communist, about to embark on a convict ship for the penal settlement of New Caledonia. From once enjoying a fabulous salary as one of the principal writers on the Paris Figaro, he is now an inmate of a prisoner's cell. His life under the Empire was an exciting one. The bitterness of his attacks in his paper La Lanterne upon Napoleon III led to his arrest and a fine of 10,000 francs, with 12 months imprisonment. The attacks in La Lanterne by [illegible] assassination by Pierre Bonaparte. In September 1870, after the fall of Napoleon, Rochefort was carried from prison on the shoulders of an excited mob, the idol of the hour. During the siege of Paris it is said he served as a simple gunner. After the Prussians left Paris Rochefort joined the Commune. It was for inciting to civil war in the notorious Mot d'Ordre that he was found guilty by a court martial in September 1871 and sentenced to imprisonment for life in a fortress. The Thiers Government spared Rochefort from deportation to New Caledonia, but he has received different treatment from MacMahon. PUGET SOUND

THE BAY [illegible]

[illegible] great advantages as a [illegible] adapted for all kinds of shipping Its central position on the Sound is [illegible] point [illegible] Its harbor is [illegible] twenty feet and yet at low water there is thirty feet of water at the wharves so that vessels of the largest size can come up at all hours The bay is seven miles long and three broad and its channel is from [illegible] fathoms deep The anchorage is from 12 to 40 fathoms and it is almost entirely land locked from any wind that would do shipping any harm

THE TOWN OF SEATTLE

Is located near the head of the bay on a [illegible] that is favorable for drainage [illegible] commanding a view of the waters [illegible] [illegible] substantial wharves [illegible] Universit[y] [illegible] buildings the number of churches [illegible] residences [illegible] the population [illegible] This town has [illegible] of strength permanence and growth that cannot be denied The deep waters of the bay [illegible] for vessels and the central position will always secure to Seattle a prominent place on the waters of the Sound It some of the great centers of the

LUMBER [illegible]

On the Sound the local importance and commercial value of which cannot be easily estimated

THE SEATTLE SAW MILL

Cuts 30,000 feet of lumber a day and ships principally to San Francisco It employs thirty men and pays them $40 to $75 a month and board It expends in wages and other working expenses $6,000 a month Landolph and Robinson have a sawmill for hard woods [illegible] such as ash maple, pine and cedar The Freeport mill owned by [illegible] Williams & Co on the opposite side of the bay has a capacity equal to the Seattle mill They ship largely to San Francisco and South America They own three tow boats one of which they built themselves They have built two or more large vessels for themselves and have a bark on the stocks at present for their lumber trade In the milling and ship-building departments fifty men are employed

PORT BLAKELY SAWMILL

Owned by Renton, Smith & Co facing Seattle is a large establishment and [illegible] great industry This mill cuts an average of 60,000 feet of lumber in twelve hours and 100,000 feet in twenty four hours It runs day and night almost all the time and employs 100 men They ship some to San Francisco but chiefly to foreign markets such as [illegible] South America and Valparaiso This company has had a good [illegible] for the last eight months The ship [illegible] is now loading 1,000,000 feet of lumber for Valparaiso and the bark [illegible] is loading [illegible] feet for [illegible] During the last three months this Company shipped 3,000,000 feet of lumber and [illegible] feet during the year [illegible] A number of [illegible] at $[illegible] a month [illegible] nearly all the lumbering mills a considerable number of Kanakas or Sandwich Islanders are permanent hands They are spoken of by employers as thinking [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] MINE

[illegible]

[illegible] Mr Horton and Mr Denny [illegible] numbered among the most valuable citizens of Seattle In the present tightness of the money market all business is necessarily dull The lumber coal and general merchandise business of the Sound feel the pressure as much as any part of the Coast but it the tide of [illegible] always flows The future prosperity of the Sound is beyond the possibility of a doubt Seattle is not devoid of

AGRICULTURAL [illegible]

The Dwamish river with its tributaries White Black and Cedar rivers [illegible] [illegible] lands of these rivers are [illegible] capable of high cultivation [illegible] to supply all the wants of the district [illegible] with vegetables and fruits [illegible]

THE TERMINUS

As a matter of course the people of Seattle are very angry at the Northern Pacific Railroad Company for not making their town the terminus of the road on the Sound They can make out a strong case of deception and bad treatment In this case as in all matters [illegible] [illegible] kind there are two sides to the question and it is not prudent for a visitor to interfere much in such matters It is easy to become a partisan and decide accordingly but to know the whole truth and give an impartial verdict is a different affair One thing is certain the terminus at Tacoma cannot prevent Seattle from maintaining its present industrial and commercial standing, and its future sure and steady progress The railroad will open up the Territory and the Sound in particular to speedy settlement to the rapid development of its lumber coal and agricultural resources as well as the great commercial importance of the latter [illegible] all of which Seattle will share largely

As an evidence of the pluck energy and enterprise of the people of Seattle and King county they have organized and incorporated a company to build a narrow gauge railroad from Seattle to Walla Walla a distance of 300 miles to be called

The stock is to consist of 100,000 shares of $100 each Up to this date there are $500,000 of the stock taken By the first of September they expect to commence the survey of the line and to build as far as the coal mines and coal fields—[illegible] miles—in the spring and summer [illegible] Outsiders look upon this scheme [illegible] a dream of visionary men Be this as it may one thing is certain the people are thoroughly in earnest at present and are united in their determination to support and sustain [illegible] reputation and progressive character of the town A short time will decide the practicability of the scheme Their united action energy and enterprise are worthy of all praise and are indicative evidences of the [illegible] public spirit that exist among the people of the Sound

[illegible] SEATTLE

The Sound not only stands prominent for its inland sea of mighty waters and numerous large and safe bays but [illegible] equally distinguished for its charming lakes of which Seattle boasts [illegible] Union lake is only a short mile from the town [illegible] a beautiful sheet of water fully two miles long and one broad where [illegible] fishing and bathing can be enjoyed [illegible] Lake Washington [illegible] miles [illegible] town [illegible] constantly [illegible] for visitors This lake is twenty miles long and has an average breadth of [illegible] The water [illegible] clear and has an average depth of [illegible] feet The United States navy could [illegible] and have plenty of room to spare It has been spoken of as a [illegible] for the Northwest These are samples of the attractions of the Sound for visitors and the advantages that settlers have at all times

TRAVELING [illegible] SOUND

The facilities for traveling on the Sound by steamers are very satisfactory The North Pacific [illegible] beautiful and powerful steamer She runs twice a week [illegible] Olympia [illegible] The Zephyr [illegible] Seattle Olympia [illegible]

THE TERRITORIES

The [illegible] 4,000

The Denver and Rio Grande road has recently been put under contract from [illegible] to the crossing of the Huerfano—a distance of forty eight miles

[illegible] Lodge of F & A M

It is reported that Fremont county Colorado voted the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad $100,000 in bonds by a majority of only two The matter will be contested

At Port Townsend on last Sunday the barkentine B H Gawley barks Lanier and Camden and ship Panther all arrived and at Port Discovery the ship War Hawk

Capt Lawson of the U S Coast Survey has recently put up a building on Union Wharf at Port Townsend for the purpose of a tide gauge and for meteorological observations

The Port Townsend Argus is informed that in a few weeks there will be a daily steamboat service between that place and Tacoma two boats plying alternately and one boat will run exclusively between Tacoma and Victoria

Governor Ferry of Washington Territory has pardoned Pierre St Martin out of the penitentiary He was convicted in April 1871 of grand larceny and sentenced to ten years imprisonment He is not yet 21 years of age and it is to be hoped that the term of imprisonment will be a lesson to induce future good behavior

A company of one hundred men recently left St Louis to locate and survey an immense estate of rich agricultural and mineral lands in Arizona and lay off a city on the Gila river on the line of the Great Southern Railway which will be the depot of all Northern and Southern Arizona and the Mexican States of Sonora and Sinaloa

Special Agent Wickesie of the Postoffice Department reports from Salt Lake City July 31st that highway robbery on the mail routes in the Rocky Mountains is becoming frequent He recounts the recent robberies on the Montana route near Pleasant Valley and on the Kelton and Boise river routes and says Bad men come to the West with the expectation of making a sudden fortune and being disappointed become reckless and desperate highwaymen

The Olympia Courier of the 12th says Major Hayden received a telegram yesterday from Governor Salomon at San Francisco, saying that everything was moving nicely for his enterprise Later in the day a large number of our most influential citizens joined in a telegram to Governor Salomon assuring him of their confidence that our people will increase the amount of land donations pledged to the Northern Pacific Railroad Company and also give county bonds when authorized by law to do so in case the San Francisco company [illegible] and will build the road

Puget Sound exports are immense as every one knows but few even at home have an adequate idea of their real extent The Port Townsend Argus puts it pretty strong as follows For the year ending May 31 1873 Puget Sound District exported to foreign countries upwards of $728,759. This was carried away in 325 vessels, representing 136,660 tons Of these vessels 72 were under foreign flags—the balance were American vessels As nearly as can be estimated there are 1,100 cargoes of lumber per annum exported coastwise Applying the rule of proportion this number would give us $2,139,200 as the value of our coastwise exports This sum added to the amount of our foreign exports gives us a total sum of $2,867,959 for exports from this district and adding the other business to this we find that our Custom House here on Puget Sound is guarding a marine trade that amounts to nearly [illegible] $5,000,000 a year

The Tacoma Tribune of the 12th inst says Tacoma was thrown into a state of great excitement last evening by a horrible murder within its borders Two men named Dudley and Harry—so far as is known neither of whom had the least acquaintance with the other—met at Connell's place in the outskirts of the town when Harry without the least provocation drew a six-shooter leveled it at the other and shot him dead But a single shot was fired and that penetrated the man's [illegible] just below the heart passing clear through the body glancing from the bar against the wall, and rolling out upon the floor Harry evidently seemed bent on doing something desperate and it is thought would have as quickly shot any other man in the room as Dudley After killing the latter and [illegible] [illegible] horse and [illegible] surrendered himself to the Sheriff and was locked up in a cell to await his trial at the next term of the court

New wheat [illegible] market [illegible]

[illegible] smiths [illegible] present season [illegible]

The news from [illegible] the valley is generally all about the progress of the harvest and the immense yield of the wheat and oats

[illegible] reached Salem last Thursday over the bars of the Upper Wallamet with 4 tons of freight and started down next day with 50 [illegible] of flour

Farmers are beginning to deliver the new crop of wheat at [illegible] the Cornelius warehouse There is over an average crop [illegible] Washington county farmers will each harvest over 10,000 bushels of wheat this year

The Capitol Commissioners at Salem are employing a large number of hands on the various parts of the State House and are rapidly pushing forward this edifice The foundations are completed and the cut stone for the outer walls is being laid except at the place where it is proposed to put down the principal corner stone the ceremonies connected with which will take place as we learn, on the second day of the State Fair

Col Saxe reports the sale of two more of his thoroughbred short horns, viz One to Messrs Fisk & Walker of Marion county, Duke [illegible] red some white, sired by the 10th Duke of Airdrie 7,880 Dam—Irene 10th etc One to Captain J T Apperson of Oregon City Matthew 5th Strawberry roan sired by the 10th Duke of Airdrie 7,880 Dam—"Mattie, 4th," etc. These animals were bred by Rev John Allen Gano and Gen Richard M Gano, of Centerville Bourbon county Kentucky, who are of the best and most reputable breeders of Durhams in the State These cattle we are informed are of the famous Duchess Bates blood which ranks foremost as milking and beef stock in the United States and England

The Colonist rejoices that Victoria is to have a street sprinkler

Madame Anna Bishop and operatic troupe arrived in Victoria on the Prince Alfred, and are giving a series of concerts at that place

The Princess Louise, in tow of the Goliah, arrived in Royal Roads on Saturday, bound from Moody's Mill Burrard Inlet, lumber laden for Callao

Burrard Inlet has had from six to ten ships loading lumber for different parts of the world for the last eight months, and the mills have been working steadily day and night.

The local press thinks the Victoria Fire Department should be relieved from the burden of dragging their heavy engines to fires by the employment of horses for that purpose

The treasure shipments per Prince Alfred on her last trip from Victoria were Bank of British North America, $33,614 38, Bank of British Columbia $12,029 71, F Garesche, $4,651 10 Total, $50,295 19

To Mr Finney, of Nanaimo, has been awarded the contract for erecting a beacon on Gabriole Island which is opposite Nanaimo, for the sum of $1,175 The Chain Island beacon was awarded to Mr W Williams for $300.

Lumley Franklin ex-Mayor of Victoria, and who was widely and popularly known throughout the Province died at San Francisco on the 3d and it is said that for several days before death he was unconscious from the effects of a paralytic stroke met with a few weeks previous to his decease

The Victoria Silver Mining Company, at Isobluck below Hope are employing a party of six miners under the direction of Mr Watson They are to prospect the mine thoroughly and have a year's time wherein to do it. They have already sunk twenty feet upon the lead, which promises to be as well defined as it is rich

The Colonist of Tuesday last says the dead body of Martin the young Swiss who went crazy and wandered off to Beacon Hill, was found yesterday on the beach opposite the grand stand It had been frightfully knocked about by coming in contact with the rocks It is supposed that he threw himself into the sea near where the body was found, and drowned

A Chilliwhack correspondent says There are five men here with families looking for land There is a very strong feeling against the Government on the land sale question, and the Ministry never were in worse odor than at present in this vicinity The Ministry of Finance and Agriculture has blundered in this solitary attempt to do something for his salary and not a dozen returns will be made from this place

HENRI ROCHEFORT.—The career of the man whose name stands above has been a checkered and remarkable one A Count of the old aristocracy of France he is now as a condemned Communist about to embark on a convict ship for the penal settlement of New Caledonia From once enjoying a fabulous salary as one of the principal writers on the Paris Figaro, he is now an inmate of a prisoner's cell His life under the Empire was an exciting one The bitterness of his attacks in his paper La Lanterne upon Napoleon III led to his arrest and a fine of 10,000 francs with 12 months imprisonment The attacks in La Lanterne by Victor Noir [illegible] assassination by Pierre Bonaparte In September 1870 after the fall of Napoleon [illegible] was carried from a prison on the shoulders of an excited mob the idol of the hour During the siege of Paris it is said he served as a simple gunner After the Prussians left Paris Rochefort joined the Commune It was for inciting to civil war in the notorious Mot d'Ordre that he was found guilty by a court martial in September 1871 and sentenced to imprisonment for life in a fortress The Thiers Government spared Rochefort from [illegible] but he has received [illegible] treatment from MacMahon [illegible] he was allowed to visit Paris to marry the mother of his children and thus legitimized the [illegible] the unfortunate woman died the day after the ceremony Though Rochefort is likely to be lost sight of for some years at least his name will hold a prominent place in French history In spite of his [illegible] failings he claims sympathy [illegible] more moderate in his views and [illegible] might have been of great service [illegible] country

FRIDAY MORNING, AUGUST 15, 1873.

A COMMERCIAL QUESTION.

In addition to the information afforded by our morning dispatches, we find in a New York commercial letter, the following concerning the petroleum and wheat fleets for this year:

> The only serious drawback to a good export demand is the dearth of tonnage on account of the wonderful increase and exceptionally low price of petroleum. This will cause high rates of freight and will draw off an immense number of vessels from other trades. Only a few years ago petroleum freights to Europe were 2s. 6d.@4s. per barrel, while at the present time they are from 7s. to 10s. There is a large fleet of English steamers at present out of profitable employment. Efforts have been made to induce them to come over to participate in the grain trade, but the high cost of coal and the necessity of making the westward passage in ballast are insurmountable obstacles to the success of such enterprises.

This is only a restatement of the causes which afflict the prosperity of the export trade of Oregon. More than fifty ships of 1,000 tons each could be loaded with the [illegible] plus grain of our State this year, all of which could be readily sold at a remunerative price to the bread-hungry millions of Europe, were there any inducements to the vessels to come here for it. Of the crop of wheat raised in Oregon last year 1,500,000 bushels have been sent out of the State reckoning the flour ex[illegible] as so much wheat, and yet we are informed that as much as 150,000 bushels is being carried over into the harvest of this [illegible]. Twenty-six ships have been loaded [illegible] out of the crop of 1872 and [illegible] have their cargoes nearly all en[illegible]. We can hear of less than one-third of the number of vessels that will be [illegible] to carry away our surplus this [illegible] as yet being engaged to load at this [illegible].

[illegible] of the case it becomes a [illegible] question whether we are to [illegible] from the insufficiency of tonnage [illegible] export trade is large enough to [illegible] to ships coming this way, or [illegible] the low price of wheat caused in [illegible] by this scarcity, will induce a diversion of our industries, or the business of [illegible] on this northwestern coast, [illegible] there is no place better adapted, [illegible] greater advantages, becomes [illegible] enterprise. The latter is not [illegible] the limits of the possibilities, and [illegible] would be hailed as the [illegible] of great commercial pros[illegible] for scores of years the com[illegible] of coal" would not [illegible] and with our undeveloped iron [illegible] forests of superior timber [illegible], and our extensive coal [illegible] and Washington Territory [illegible] fuel and tonnage for the [illegible] for a half century.

[illegible] of telegraphic dis[illegible] facilitates correctness, of [illegible] a San Francisco [illegible] H. Tintelleote committed [illegible], N. Y., on the 9th inst. [illegible] large means who had come to [illegible], and he committed the deed in [illegible] of a dispute about a game of billiards [illegible]" etc. A Sacramento [illegible] H. Tintello [illegible] committed [illegible]. "He was a man of large means [illegible] a short time ago in [illegible] about a game of billiards [illegible]" etc. Another journal [illegible] Tintelote committed suicide in [illegible] of a dispute about the game of [illegible] his brother who was in the [illegible]. We would like to have a [illegible] the exact cause of Mr. T's [illegible]

[illegible] has been brought [illegible] Portsmouth, N. H., directly [illegible] of the episcopal func[illegible] of a Roman Catholic [illegible] bring a suit in equity [illegible] Bacon and Rev. Mr. Walsh, a [illegible] church. The complaint alleges [illegible] have, in divers and sundry ways, [illegible] to the support of a Catho[illegible] and service in that town, and that [illegible] justly required to pay a fee of ad[illegible] to worship in their own sanc[illegible] therefore pray for an injunction [illegible] said priest and bishop [illegible] the altar of said church from [illegible] of God to a place where a price of [illegible] is charged, and curses, disease and [illegible] to fall upon members who in [illegible] decline to follow just as the [illegible] "bishop direct."

[illegible] King's success in abating the dog [illegible] at the National capital has embold[illegible] loving Washingtonian to [illegible] of E. L. Du Barry, Superin[illegible] of the Baltimore and Potomac Rail[illegible] of maintaining a public [illegible] allowing filthy stock cars to stand [illegible] in the public streets, making the air [illegible] and residence in the locality intolerable. Mr. Bamburger (the complainant) al[illegible] against the whistling and ringing of bells with which the engines of that road [illegible] the slumbers of the just. Bamburger [illegible] that the screeching iron horse is just as [illegible] of a nuisance as the yelping cur, and he [illegible] to maintain his views in Court. Em[illegible] have been engaged on both [illegible].

[illegible] gubernatorial contest in Massachusetts is the most exciting theme of discussion in [illegible] exchanges nowadays. It is a fair [illegible] of Butler's strength, not of his popularity. [illegible] to tell just what the prospects are. [illegible] of the best and purest of Massachusetts Republicans have pronounced against Ben., but this serves only to inspire him with new courage. Forney's Chronicle of the 3d instant says the struggle increases in interest every day, and with a powerful opposition in his own party, it appears almost impossible for Butler to succeed, particularly since such men as Dawes and Hoar are arrayed against him. The Chronicle adds that "his defeat will end his political career, and we do not think the [illegible] will lose much by it."

Our morning dispatches inform us that Col. Cobb sues the Wyandotte Gazette for $10,000 damages for alleged "defamation of character." As character is defined to be "what a man really is, while reputation is only what he seems to be," we argue by the syllogism that the cash value of the average Congressman is $10,000. No investment pays a better dividend—of [illegible] from the public press.

[illegible] heat in New York City has been intense [illegible] the present month, and mortality has [illegible] correspondingly. In an exchange of the 6th inst. we read of nine deaths from sunstroke in two days in that city.

FOURTH OPEN LETTER TO H. W. SCOTT.

MY DEAR BOY: Although your last letter to me is the language of a vanquished foe and a fit addendum to your compilation of open letters, and although I would not do anything willingly to increase the bad blood of one who is smarting under the influence of his own folly, yet inasmuch as I promised myself when you commenced your flouts at me that I would have the last word with you unless you outlived me, I am under the necessity of writing you again. While your last letter shows but faint symptoms of convalescence, yet in one particular it betrays signs of a little common sense. It did you great credit as a man and as a literary genius. You were wise in being so brief—in not answering my letter; and you would have been wiser if you had not written a word about me—not even so much as an "Ah!" You would have escaped the mortification of being ridiculed and regarded by the public as one that would deceive his most intimate friends.

I think you might give an old friend the privilege of "whining" if he chooses to do so, especially as a part of the "whining" (as you call it,) is an extract from a private letter to me by an old familiar friend. I suppose you would recognize it, as you are quite familiar with the author, and hence would say nothing about "whining." And now, my dear boy, as this is my last open letter to you (unless you are insane enough to write more,) I will give you a little fatherly advice. Never deceive any one. Don't urge a man to run for almost every office in the gift of the people, find fault with him for his unwillingness to work for himself, tell him that "self-love is sometimes not so violent a sin as self neglecting," and then, for the sake of a little triumph in a controversy, try to convince the public that he has been a chronic office-seeker pretty much all his days; and that he never made a movement in politics which was not intended for the benefit of himself; that he never raised his political head except to demand office, and that he was mercenary in all he did. Do not praise a man in a public newspaper, representing him as a man of high moral character, of many public and private virtues and worthy of the suffrage of the people of the State, and then, to gain a point, tell the public that you are not a man of truth. And finally, my dear boy, when you are reminded of your waywardness and get cornered, don't try to be witty (it is not your forte) and say "Ah!"

When you shall have learned to observe this advice, and the lessons that it suggests, you will stand before the public in a much more enviable light than your letters to me have placed you.

W. BOWLBY.

CRITICISM OF GAYTON ON VACCINATION.

HILLSBORO, Aug. 14, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Last Saturday's issue of the OREGONIAN contains an article under the head of "Vaccination for Smallpox," by Dr. W. Gayton, which does not agree altogether with my observation, and, therefore, a few lines from my pen, I trust, will not be objectionable, and if thought of sufficient importance will find a place in your columns.

The Dr. says in the article just referred to, "It is clearly seen that those who are not vaccinated died at the rate of more than 37 per cent.; with vaccination at about 12 per cent.; with two cicatrices at about 8½ per cent.; with three cicatrices at a little over 7 per cent.," and so on, giving great importance to the number of times vaccinated, or the greatest number of cicatrices present.

Now, Mr. Editor, if my experience and observation is to be relied upon (and I think I have had sufficient—having treated 628 cases, and made 16 post mortem examinations while in charge of the St. Louis Smallpox Hospital, during the epidemic of 1869-70) the number of cicatrices has nothing to do with the lessening of the per cent. of mortality, one vaccination or one cicatrice being just as protective, if the cicatrice is a good one and the poison all neutralized, as though there were a dozen.

I have treated patients in the hospital who presented one, two, three and four well marked cicatrices and yet had confluent smallpox, showing conclusively, I think, that number is no positive proof of complete protection. Again, I have seen persons presenting one cicatrice who were completely protected, having been exposed in every manner possible, and still not take the disease. Again, I am satisfied that a few individuals are naturally protected without vaccination, never having had any of that peculiar virus in the system necessary to produce smallpox, I being one of that class. I have been vaccinated four times within my own recollection, without producing any effect and presenting no cicatrices, and yet, after all the above exposures, I passed scot free.

I believe, with the Doctor, that vaccination should be carried to the extent of eliminating or neutralizing all of the poison (if that is what the Doctor means) by revaccinating until no sore can be produced, which will be conclusive evidence that all the virus has been neutralized and the person thoroughly protected; but one vaccination will often suffice.

That vaccination is of the highest importance, all close observers must admit; and parents who neglect that important duty, and thereby imperil the lives of their offspring, should and will be held responsible for their neglect.

I hold it to be of so much importance that I doubt if ever a death occurred from uncomplicated varioloid following successful vaccination.

The per cent. of deaths among the unvaccinated is always large, and I do not think the Doctor's figures any too high. The per cent. of deaths during the epidemic mentioned above was 21½ of the whole number admitted; but I would state that nearly all our cases were complicated with syphilis, increasing our mortality very considerable.

Very respectfully, JOHN VITE, M. D.

LEAVES FROM AN EXCURSIONIST'S DIARY.

"CAMP DIVIDE," CALAPOOIA MOUNTAINS,
Wednesday, August 23, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

All things are lovely in camp, and "the goose hangs high." Our camp is situated in a most attractive place and commands views of rarest beauty and grandeur. It is very near the O. & C. Railroad, and we are in daily communication with friends and the outside world, yet are far enough from the busy haunts of men to possess all the freedom of mountain life, being camped but a few feet from the line that divides the waters of the Wallamet and Umpqua rivers.

As spring mattresses and feather beds are unattainable luxuries the first night out was a severe trial on flesh and bones. The tents were stretched: and, after sitting around the camp fire till a late hour, the company vanished, one by one; but about midnight a cry arose in one of the tents, "Oh, girls, I'm dying; I know I am right on the Divide." That wail was echoed from another quarter with, "I'm on a faggot as large as a bedpost!" Another, and another, took up the strain, till the mountains re-echoed with a prolonged howl of anguish. One adventurous mind proposed that we repair to the nearest house and if possible procure one sleep for a "bit," or three for a quarter. The major portion of the company went halting next day, and the demand for liniment and painkiller exceeded the supply. Straw and fir boughs formed, in comparison, a bed of down for the next night.

Hunting and fishing form the sports of the day, and up to this time two deer have been killed; one by Rev. Knight, who is in a state of ecstatic bliss, and the other by Rev. Butcher of Albany, who is correspondingly happy. Long strings of fish have been caught, which are thought to be young whales, as some of them are at least three inches in length, measured from the mouth to the tip of the tail. The evenings are spent around the camp fire, in singing and story telling. Last evening an incident occurred, worthy of note. A young and Reverend gentleman was reclining at full length before the fire with closed eyes and apparently enjoying the situation. A fair damsel sat beside him, conversing in melodious accents. A soft, warm kiss fell upon his parted lips. Visions of heavenly beauty floated through his brain; a thrill of pleasure electrified his frame. He slowly unclosed his eyes, to convince himself that it was not a delusion. His astonishment and disgust may be imagined when he discovered that it was a dog stooping over him. He only muttered some [illegible]

J. H. EGAN
WOULD INFORM HIS FRIENDS AND PATRONS [illegible]

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING, AUGUST 15, 1873.

A COMMERCIAL QUESTION.

In addition to the information afforded by our morning dispatches, we find in a New York commercial letter, the following concerning the petroleum and wheat fleets for this year.

The only serious drawback to a good export demand is the dearth of tonnage on account of the wonderful increase and exceptionally low price of petroleum. This will cause high rates of freight and will draw off an immense number of vessels from other trades. Only a few years ago petroleum freights to Europe were 2s. 6d.@4s. per barrel, while at the present time they are from 7d. to 10s. There is a large fleet of English steamers at present out of profitable employment. Efforts have been made to induce them to come over to participate in the grain trade, but the high cost of coal and the necessity of making the westward passage in ballast are insuperable obstacles to the success of such enterprises.

This is only a restatement of the causes which afflict the prosperity of the export trade of Oregon. More than fifty ships of 1,000 tons each could be loaded with the surplus grain of our State this year, all of which could be readily sold at a remunerative price to the bread-hungry millions of Europe, were there any inducements to the vessels to come here for it. Of the crop of wheat raised in Oregon last year 1,500,000 bushels have been sent out of the State reckoning the flour export as so much wheat, and yet we are informed that as much as 150,000 bushels is being carried over into the harvest of this year. Twenty-six ships have been loaded for Europe out of the crop of 1872 and two more have their cargoes nearly all engaged. We can hear of less than one-third of the number of vessels that will be required to carry away our surplus this year, as yet being engaged to load at this port.

In this view of the case it becomes a very serious question whether we are to suffer from the insufficiency of tonnage until our import trade is large enough to give cargoes to ships coming this way, or whether, the low price of wheat caused in part by this scarcity, will induce a diversity of our industries, or the business of ship building on this northwestern coast, for which there is no place better adapted or possessing greater advantages, becomes a leading enterprise. The latter is not beyond the limits of the possibilities, and its inauguration would be hailed as the dawn of an era of great commercial prosperity. Here for scores of years the complaint of the "high cost of coal" would not be heard, and with our undeveloped iron [illegible], our vast forests of superior timber [illegible] the purpose, and our extensive coal [illegible] Oregon and Washington Territory [illegible] supply fuel and tonnage for the commercial world for a half century.

[illegible] punctuation of telegraphic dispatches frequently facilitates correctness of [illegible]. For instance: a San Francisco [illegible] says that "H. Tintellosote committed [illegible] at Hoboken, N. Y., on the 9th inst. [illegible] a man of large means who had come to [illegible], and he committed the deed in consequence of a dispute about a game of billiards with his brother," etc. A Sacramento [illegible] "H. Tintellorate committed [illegible], etc. "He was a man of large means [illegible] to this country a short time ago in [illegible] of a dispute about a game of billiards with his brother" etc. Another journal [illegible] that "Tintelloto committed suicide in [illegible] of a dispute about the game of [illegible] with his brother who was in the [illegible] business." We would like to have a [illegible] to ascertain the exact cause of Mr. T's act.

[illegible] remarkable action has been brought [illegible] a court in Portsmouth, N. H., directly involving the legality of the episcopal functions. Several members of a Roman Catholic [illegible] in that town bring a suit in equity [illegible] Bishop Bacon and Rev. Mr. Walsh, a [illegible] of that church. The complaint alleges [illegible] plaintiffs have, in divers and sundry ways, contributed largely to the support of a Catholic church and service in that town, and that they are unjustly required to pay a fee of admission in order to worship in their own sanctuary. They therefore pray for an injunction [illegible] restraining said priest and bishop "from debasing the altar of said church from the worship of God to a place where a price of [illegible] is charged, and curses, disease and [illegible] are asked to fall upon members who in [illegible] matters decline to follow just as the [illegible] and bishop direct."

[illegible] Cushing's success in abating the dog [illegible] at the National capital has emboldened another peace-loving Washingtonian to [illegible] the arrest of E. L. Du Barry, Superintendent of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad, on the charge of maintaining a public [illegible] by allowing filthy stock cars to stand over night in the public streets, making the air unhealthy and residence in the locality intolerable. Mr. Bamburger (the complainant) also protests against the whistling and ringing of bells with which the engines of that road disturb the slumbers of the just. Bamburger insists that the screeching iron horse is just as much of a nuisance as the yelping cur, and he proposes to maintain his views in Court. Eminent counsel have been engaged on both sides.

The gubernatorial contest in Massachusetts is the most exciting theme of discussion in our eastern exchanges nowadays. It is a fair test of Butler's strength, not of his popularity. It is difficult to tell just what the prospects are. Some of the best and purest of Massachusetts Republicans have pronounced against Ben., but this serves only to inspire him with new courage. Forney's Chronicle of the 3d instant says the struggle increases in interest every day, and with a powerful opposition in his own party, it appears almost impossible for Butler to succeed, particularly since such men as Dawes and Hoar are arrayed against him. The Chronicle adds that "his defeat will end his political career, and we do not think the State will lose much by it."

Our morning dispatches inform us that Col. Cobb sues the Wyandotte Gazette for $10,000 damages for alleged "defamation of character." As character is defined to be "what a man really is, while reputation is only what he seems to be," we argue by the syllogism that the cash value of the average Congressman is $10,000. No investment pays a better dividend of abuses from the public press.

[illegible] heat in New York City has been intense during the present month, and mortality has increased correspondingly. In an exchange of the 4th inst. we find of nine deaths from sunstroke in two days in that city.

The Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser makes itself [illegible] ridiculous by remarking that [illegible] four years the [illegible]

FOURTH OPEN LETTER TO H. W. SCOTT.

MY DEAR BOY: Although your last letter to me is the language of a vanquished foe and a fit addendum to your compilation of open letters, and although I would not do anything willingly to increase the bad blood of one who is smarting under the influence of his own folly, yet inasmuch as I promised myself when you commenced your flouts at me that I would have the last word with you unless you outlived me, I am under the necessity of writing you again. While your last letter shows but faint symptoms of convalescence, yet in one particular it betrays signs of a little common sense. It did you great credit as a man noted as a literary genius. You were wise in being so brief in not answering my letter, and you would have been wiser if you had not written a word about me—not even so much as an "Ah!" You would have escaped the mortification of being ridiculed and regarded by the public as one that would deceive his most intimate friends.

I think you might give an old friend the privilege of "whining" if he chooses to do so, especially as a part of the "whining" (as you call it,) is an extract from a private letter to me by an old familiar friend. I suppose you would recognize it, as you are quite familiar with the author, and hence would say nothing about "whining." And now, my dear boy, as this is my last open letter to you (unless you are insane enough to write more,) I will give you a little fatherly advice. Never deceive any one. Don't urge a man to run for almost every office in the gift of the people, find fault with him for his unwillingness to work for himself, tell him that "self-love is sometimes not so violent a sin as self neglecting," and then, for the sake of a little triumph in a controversy, try to convince the public that he has been a chronic office-seeker pretty much all his days; and that he never made a movement in politics which was not intended for the benefit of himself; that he never raised his political head except to demand office, and that he was mercenary in all he did. Do not praise a man in a public newspaper, representing him as a man of high moral character, of many public and private virtues—and worthy of the suffrage of the people of the State, and then, to gain a point, tell the public that you are not a man of truth. And finally, my dear boy, when you are reminded of your waywardness and get cornered, don't try to be witty (it is not your forte) and say "Ah!"

When you shall have learned to observe this advice, and the lessons that it suggests, you will stand before the public in a much more enviable light than your letters to me have placed you.

W. BOWLBY.

CRITICISM OF GAYTON ON VACCINATION.

HILLSBORO, Aug. 14, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Last Saturday's issue of the OREGONIAN contains an article under the head of "Vaccination for Smallpox," by Dr. W. Gayton, which does not agree altogether with my observation, and, therefore, a few lines from my pen, I trust, will not be objectionable, and if thought of sufficient importance will find a place in your columns.

The Dr. says in the article just referred to, "It is clearly seen that those who are not vaccinated died at the rate of more than 37 per cent.; with vaccination at about 12 per cent.; with two cicatrices at about 8½ per cent.; with three cicatrices at a little over 7 per cent.," and so on, giving great importance to the number of times vaccinated, or the greatest number of cicatrices present.

Now, Mr. Editor, if my experience and observation is to be relied upon (and I think I have had sufficient—having treated 628 cases, and made 15 post mortem examinations while in charge of the St. Louis Smallpox Hospital, during the epidemic of 1869-70) the number of cicatrices has nothing to do with the lessening of the per cent. of mortality, one vaccination or one cicatrice being just as protective, if the cicatrices is a good one and the poison all neutralized, as though there were a dozen.

I have treated patient in the hospital who presented one, two, three and four well marked cicatrices and yet had confluent smallpox, showing conclusively, I think, that number is no positive proof of complete protection. Again, I have seen persons presenting one cicatrice who were completely protected, having been exposed in every manner possible, and still not take the disease. Again, I am satisfied that a few individuals are naturally protected without vaccination, never having had any of that peculiar virus in the system necessary to produce smallpox, I being one of that class. I have been vaccinated four times within my own recollection, without producing any effect and presenting no cicatrices, and yet, after all the above exposures, I passed scot free.

I believe, with the Doctor, that vaccination should be carried to the extent of eliminating or neutralizing all of the poison (if that is what the Doctor means) by revaccinating until no sore can be produced, which will be conclusive evidence that all the virus has been neutralized and the person thoroughly protected; but one vaccination will often suffice.

That vaccination is of the highest importance, all close observers must admit; and parents who neglect that important duty, and thereby imperil the lives of their offspring, should and will be held responsible for their neglect.

I hold it to be of so much importance that I doubt if ever a death occurred from uncomplicated varioloid following successful vaccination.

The per cent. of deaths among the unvaccinated is always large, and I do not think the Doctor's figures any too high. The per cent. of deaths during the epidemic mentioned above was 21¼ of the whole number admitted; but I would state that nearly all our cases were complicated with syphilis, increasing our mortality very considerable.

Very respectfully, JOHN VITE, M. D.

LEAVES FROM AN EXCURSIONIST'S DIARY.

"CAMP DIVIDE," CALAPOOIA MOUNTAINS,
Wednesday, August 23, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

All things are lovely in camp, and "the goose hangs high." Our camp is situated in a most attractive place and commands views of rarest beauty and grandeur. It is very near the O. & C. Railroad, and we are in daily communication with friends and the outside world, yet are far enough from the busy haunts of men to possess all the freedom of mountain life, being camped but a few feet from the line that divides the waters of the Wallamet and Umpqua rivers.

As spring mattresses and feather beds are unattainable luxuries the first night out was a severe trial on flesh and bones. The tents were stretched; and, after sitting around the camp fire till a late hour, the company vanished, one by one; but about midnight a cry arose in one of the tents, "Oh, girls, I'm dying; I know I am right on the Divide." That wail was echoed from another quarter with, "I'm on a faggot as large as a bedpost!" Another, and another, took up the strain, till the mountains re-echoed with a prolonged howl of anguish. One adventurous mind proposed that we repair to the nearest house and if possible procure one sleep for a "bit," or three for a quarter. The major portion of the company went halting next day, and the demand for liniment and painkiller exceeded the supply. Straw and fir boughs formed, in comparison, a bed of down for the next night.

Hunting and fishing form the sports of the day, and up to this time two deer have been killed; one by Rev. Knight, who is in a state of ecstatic bliss, and the other by Rev. Butcher of Albany, who is correspondingly happy. Long strings of fish have been caught, which are thought to be young whales, as some of them are at least three inches in length, measured from the mouth to the tip of the tail. The evenings are spent around the camp fire, in singing and story telling. Last evening an incident occurred, worthy of note. A young and Reverend gentleman was reclining at full length before the fire, with closed eyes and apparently enjoying the situation. A fair damsel sat beside him conversing in melodious accents. A soft, warm kiss fell upon his parted lips. Visions of heavenly beauty floated through his brain; a thrill of pleasure electrified his frame. He slowly unclosed his eyes, to convince himself that it was not a delusion. His astonishment and disgust may be imagined, when he discovered that it was a dog stooping over him. He only muttered something about dumb animals being capable of [illegible] strong attachment. Glorious time! Appetite on a fearful in-

FRIDAY MORNING, AUGUST 1[illegible] 18[illegible]3

C[illegible] Trip.—Last Monday morning the trial trip of the D[illegible] from [illegible] took place from the Dalles [illegible] she was built down to the Upper C[illegible] and back again. On this occasion the new steamer acquitted herself handsomely and [illegible] credit to her builder, Mr John H Holland. With Capt J C Ainsworth at the wheel and chief engineer John Gates manipulating the throttle valve, the steamer [illegible] considering the newness and untried condition of the machinery. From the Dalles to the upper landing, the steamer made that distance in two hours and a half. Returning [illegible] was over three hours. The [illegible] was the boat to carry 110 pounds [illegible] on the trial trip the engineer did not allow her to carry more than 80 pounds. Engines, boiler, machinery and the hull being entirely new, it was deemed imprudent to work the boat up to its full capacity of speed. In a short time when the machinery wears down a little and everything becomes smooth she will [illegible] carry the full complement of steam and the engineer will not hesitate to push things a little in case of emergency. When in complete running trim the D[illegible] will make the distance from the Dalles to the Cascades inside of two hours and return in two and a half hours. Since making the trial trip she has taken the place of the Idaho, which boat will be hauled [illegible]

Requires Attention.—The [illegible] says: We were informed of a case a few days since that the Relief Committee would do well in giving some attention to. Dr Freeland, of the Central Drug Store, had invested in his business his entire wealth—about $4,000. The fire was upon him so soon after it caught that he did not have time to save anything. He is without funds, his wife is in very delicate health, and all the circumstances seem to be against him. Some friends having confidence in his business being a success, are preparing to open a business for him again, but it will be months before he can possibly realize sufficient to make a support.

A Great Undertaking.—Concerning Jack Sheppard, the great "walkist" who was here some time ago, a San Francisco exchange says: Jack Sheppard is now engaged at the City Gardens in endeavoring to walk a thousand miles in a thousand hours, and has, we are informed, already walked three hundred of them. To complete his task he will have to walk during forty four days and sixteen hours. Welch, the horseman, has backed him for $500 to accomplish it, and J Buck has bet against him. Both have representatives to watch the pedestrian, and should the watching be carefully done, Mr Welch will pocket the stakes.

Can Get Work.—Since the late disastrous conflagration, we have heard the complaint frequently made that there are a number of carpenters in this city, who are unable to procure employment. Last evening Mr J B Montgomery, contractor for the Northern Pacific Railroad, called at our office, and desired us to state that he can give steady employment to fifteen carpenters at bridge work on the railroad. Parties desiring work can see him by calling at the store of Corbett, Failing & Co this morning at 10 o'clock.

Endorsement.—Mr W J Howell, who is a regular subscriber of the Oregonian, writing from Newtonia, Newton county, Missouri, under date of July 27th, says: "The reading of your most excellent journal gives me great pleasure. I heartily endorse its style, its political complexion, its moral tone and its devotion to the interests of the States and Territories west of the Rocky Mountains."

New Market House.—We understand that a company is being formed, with T M Richardson, F M Arnold, Walter Moffett, J A Strowbridge and C M Carter as incorporators, with a capital stock of $40,000, to erect a market house on the burnt district in this city, on ground yet to be selected south of Salmon street, north of Madison street and east of Second street.

St Joseph's Parochial School.—This school for girls, located on Stark street adjoining the Cathedral church, will resume next Monday morning at nine o'clock, under the charge of Miss Annie Showers as principal and Miss Emma Showers as assistant. These young ladies have been in charge of this school for the past year.

A Full Attendance.—This evening the Relief Committee will hold a meeting at Ladd & Tilton's Bank, at 8 o'clock. The several sub-committees are expected to submit reports. It is the desire that there should be a full attendance. Let all the Committees be represented.

Donation.—One-half of the proceeds from the exhibition of Reed's Panorama this evening and also to-morrow evening will be donated to the relief of the sufferers by the late fire. This should induce everybody to visit Masonic Hall on the last two nights.

Came Back.—The steamer California, which towed the Garibaldi down to Astoria a few days ago, returned yesterday. She is lying at the lower sawmill.

AMUSEMENTS.

As was predicted, a large audience was present last evening at the Masonic Hall, the attraction being the first exhibition of Reed's Panorama. Every available seat was occupied, and many were obliged to stand during the exhibition. The Panorama consisted of thirty two large views, almost wholly representations of scenery taken from various portions of the State, Washington Territory and California. Of the character of the paintings we cannot speak too highly. No other portion of the continent can boast of possessing more grand and sublime scenery than this State, and faithfully has the artist, Col C A Reed, transferred many of its unrivalled features to the canvas. This is Mr Reed's maiden effort in the panoramic line, and his efforts have been signally successful. All of the views have been sketched with a master hand. In the [illegible] lights, shadows, outlines, coloring and perspectives of these splendid views, Colonel Reed has left the unmistakable impress of a fine artistic conception and a skillful hand. These efforts stamp the painter as an artist of no ordinary merit. A few of these views possess more or less perceptible defects, but such deficiences are more attributable to haste in sketching, and in some cases imperfect models from which to copy, than to any want of art in the brush. The most of the views have a softness and delicacy of finish and a gorgeousness of coloring not often met with in panoramic painting. Aside from the interest which would naturally attach to such representations of our scenery, the [illegible] of Col Reed are really meritorious and [illegible] heartily appreciated by the audience. It will be [illegible] at the late hour to essay a description of the canvass [illegible]. We shall not attempt the task. To all we would say, go and see it [illegible] yourselves. You will find [illegible] the true and faithful [illegible] of the wonderful [illegible] the Columbia river [illegible] Shoshone down [illegible] the beautiful valley of the W[illegible] lovely and fertile valleys of [illegible] and Umpqua, the wild and des[illegible] of Southern Oregon and North[illegible] California, the peerless wonders of Crater Lake [illegible] lofty and snow clad peaks of the Cascade Range and many other objects of [illegible] beauty and [illegible]. The exhibition last evening was [illegible] taining and we can [illegible] in saying it [illegible] that the [illegible] tions it [illegible] the public [illegible] nessed the exhibition were more than [illegible] An exhibition will be given again this evening. Those who have failed to see this panorama should not omit to witness it before it shall depart for the East, which will be in a few days.

Hurgren & Shindler have reopened in their former warehouse, the Lutheran Church, Fifth street, near the U S Custom House, where they will operate till a permanent business place is ready. The Protestant Lutheran Church of the city, which closed some time ago, is now being used temporarily as a furniture store for Messrs Hurgren & Shindler.

Billy Bunker, who furnished the San Francisco Bulletin with reports during the late unpleasantness with Captain Jack, is preparing a history of the Modoc war.

Mr Sothern, who closed his four weeks' engagement a few days ago at the California Theater, carries East with him the neat little sum of $11,000. Who wouldn't be an actor?

Mr T Dittenhoeffer, formerly of Wasserman & Co, and more recently of Dittenhoeffer & Loewenberg, will shortly open a wholesale depot for the sale of the "weed" at 59 Front street.

A bunch of splendid oats has been laid on our table by Mr N W Smith. These oats were cut from his farm about two miles southwest of the city. They are of that species of oat known as "Superior."

Bret Harte has appeared in a French guise. So far as the work has yet made way among the Parisians, the palm has been carried off by "Le Bonheur de Camp Rugissant," otherwise in the English vernacular "The Luck of Roaring Camp."

Laundry men, whose occupation necessitates the use of considerable quantities of paper, complain of the scarcity of that material. The cause is attributed to the present style of female dress, which is chiefly remarkable for a species of inflation suggestive of the hip disease. This inflation, it seems, is attained by the generous use of newspapers—hence the scarcity of the material. The market will probably be tight till the fashion becomes obsolete.

PERSONAL, LOCAL AND GENERAL, ETC

[From the P C Advocate.]

Rev G W Kenady was in town a few days ago. He is spending the few weeks before conference with his friends in Marion county.

Rev T F Royal returned yesterday from Oakland and Southern Oregon, where he has been spending his vacation. While there he ascended Table Rock and Mount Scott.

Rev P S Knight, of Salem, with a large party of friends, are spending several days in the neighborhood of Mount Hawley in the Umpqua valley. The first day Mr Knight killed a deer, of which it is reported he is very proud.

It is still thought by some that the session of our approaching conference will be held in this city instead of Olympia. We desire to say to all concerned that we know of no reason for changing the place of meeting, and presume it will not be changed.

The fourth quarterly meeting of the Taylor street M E Church, which was postponed on account of the late fire, will be held next Sabbath. Preaching in the morning by the Presiding Elder, followed by the sacrament; preaching at night by the pastor.

[From the Catholic Sentinel.]

The annual spiritual exercises of the clergy of this Archdiocese closed last Monday morning, and on Tuesday many of them returned to duty in their several charges.

Last Sunday, at the Cathedral church of this city, was celebrated with more than usual solemnity from the fact that a very large number of the reverend clergy of the Archdiocese were present. On this occasion the Very Rev B Delorme, V G, of St Paul's, celebrated High Mass, assisted by Rev Fathers Delrue[illegible] of Salem and Heinrich of Roseburg, as Deacon and Subdeacon respectively. Reverend Father Brantner delivered the sermon. In the evening Rev Father Del[illegible] officiated at Vespers and Benediction, and Rev L Cressi, S J, preached the sermon.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The Phenix [illegible] at length in another column. Be sure to read it as well as the advertisement.

The sale of those elegant oil paintings began yesterday morning at the Washington Guard Armory. Mr Richardson will continue the sale to-day at 10 o'clock A M. He will positively close the sale of these paintings to-day. Many of these fine gems of art are still left—a fine chance for good bargains.

We are again called upon to refer to Mr Geo A Pease's card of the Pioneer Boot and Shoe Store. During the recent disastrous fire the stock was removed to a place of safety, and after a few days' labor the store was thoroughly overhauled and the stock placed on the shelves. Everybody who has visited this establishment knows that the very best goods are kept there, and to-day they can find the Holtzman Brothers, assisted by several clerks, prepared to fit the most fastidious. They fix the price so low that it is unnecessary to ask a reduction.

Passing down Front street yesterday our attention was attracted to the movement of a number of boxes in which were fresh goods into the house of Jacob Mayer. Upon inquiry we learned that Mr Mayer was in the East, and these were some of the first lots of new dry goods, notions, etc, ordered by Mr Mayer. As soon as the new stock is piled away very little room will remain for the reception of new importations. Mr Weidenfeld directs matters during the absence of Mr Mayer, and will be happy to receive orders large and small. The house is such an old established one that more need not be said of it.

CAPE FOULWEATHER LIGHTHOUSE.

We have received from Joseph Henry, Chairman of the Lighthouse Board, the following notice to mariners in regard to the display of signal lights from the new lighthouse at Cape Foulweather:

Notice is hereby given that on and after the evening of August 20, 1873, a fixed white light will be shown from the tower recently erected at Cape Foulweather (Yaquina Head), Oregon. The focal plane is at a height of 81 feet above the ground and 140 feet above sea level. In clear weather, the eye being 15 feet above sea level, the light should be seen at a distance of 18½ nautical miles. The illuminating apparatus is a lens of the 1st order, fixed, illuminating 270° of the horizon. The tower is of brick, painted white, and the lantern is painted black. The keeper's dwelling, a two story frame building, east of the tower, is painted white. The approximate position of the lighthouse is as follows: Latitude 44° 43' 30" north, longitude 124 [illegible] west. From the lighthouse Cape Disappointment (Hanco[illegible]) lighthouse bears N by W ½ W [illegible] nautical miles; Yaquina (Harbor) lighthouse bears SE by S ½ S [illegible] nautical miles; Cape Perpetua bears S by E ½ E [illegible] nautical miles; Cape Arago (Gregory) lighthouse bears [illegible] E [illegible] nautical miles.

[illegible] latter failures and [illegible] of [illegible] prompt and legitimate [illegible] has everywhere been recognized as one of the few great agency companies of this country, meeting every imaginable crisis, now incident to the dangerous profession of Fire Underwriting, including the burning of Portland, Me, [illegible] Vicksburg, Chicago and Boston.

The Phenix has full agents at all prominent places throughout the Pacific Coast (Ferris Woodward & Co, agents for Portland and vicinity), authorized to issue and renew policies direct and without reference to San Francisco.

Losses occurring in this department are promptly adjusted and paid at points where they occur when ascertained and without delay incident to submitting proofs to the parent office.

Operating conjointly with the Home Ins Co of New York and the North British and Mercantile Ins Co of London and Edinburgh in this Department, the Phenix is thereby enabled to safely assume large lines, affording its patrons the amplest security. The aggregate assets of the three Companies exceed Twenty Two Million Dollars ($22,000,000).

Losses paid in two late fires in this city by Phenix Company aggregate $50,000, and every claim cashed by the adjuster before leaving. Mr Bromwell, adjuster, having ended his labors here, leaves for head quarters by steamer Oriflamme to-day.

Why linger in blissful ignorance? Why do you wander about seeking a place where they keep the largest and finest stock of Summer Clothing? Why pay high prices for goods when the fact has been [illegible] that the great firm of J. KOHN & CO, [illegible] Front street, [illegible] Clothing and Gents' Furnishing Goods so cheap? They keep the best, they sell the cheapest, and what more can be asked.

Some people may become excited over the terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad on Puget Sound, but it does not disturb Beck & Waldman, corner Front and Washington streets, in the least, as they intend to pursue the usual course to their customers, and that is to sell goods at prices which will enable those with limited means to provide themselves with good clothing at a very small outlay of money. Parents should bring their children to [illegible] fitting suits.

Putting Down Rebellion.

When the stomach rebels against food and obstinately refuses to digest sufficient aliment to keep the body well nourished, it can only be compelled to resume its natural duties by a wholesome tonic. The powerful alkaloids so often administered for this purpose are not wholesome. They are for the most part deadly poisons, and even when taken in very small quantities react violently upon the nervous system. Not so Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This salutary combination of vegetable juices embracing the finest [illegible] and alteratives which the botanical kingdom affords operates mildly, steadily and beneficially upon the digestive, secretive and discharging organs. In dyspepsia, billious affections, nervous complaints, periodic fevers, chronic constipation, bodily weakness, mental depression, languor, sleeplessness and the various disabilities incident to old age and premature decay, its effects are so wonderful that to be comprehended they must be witnessed or experienced.

one of the most desirable Tonics and Cathartics in the world. They are intended strictly as a only to be used as a medicine, and always according to directions.

They are the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. They act upon a diseased liver and stimulate to such a degree, that a healthy action is at once brought about. As a remedy to which Women are especially subject it is superseding every other stimulant. As a Spring and Summer Tonic, they have no equal. They are a mild and gentle Purgative as well as Tonic. They Purify the Blood. They are a splendid Appetizer. They make the weak strong. They purify and invigorate. They cure Dyspepsia, Constipation and Headache. They act as a specific in all species of disorders which undermine the bodily strength and break down the animal spirits.

LYON'S KATHAIRON

Only 50 Cents per Bottle.

It promotes the GROWTH, PRESERVES the COLOR, and increases the Vigor and BEAUTY of the HAIR.

Over Thirty Years ago Lyon's Kathairon for the Hair was first placed in the market by Prof. E. Thomas Lyon, a graduate of Princeton College. The name is derived from the Greek "Kathro," signifying to cleanse, purify, rejuvenate, or restore. The favor it has received, and the popularity it has obtained, is unprecedented and incredible. It increases the Growth and Beauty of the Hair. It is a delightful dressing. It eradicates dandruff. It prevents the Hair from turning gray. It keeps the head cool, and gives the hair a rich, soft, glossy appearance. It is the same in Quantity and Quality as it was over a Quarter of a Century Ago, and is sold by all Druggists and Country Stores at only 50 Cents per Bottle.

COLEMAN'S EUCALYPTUS

Dr J S Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus is a preparation combining all the valuable medical qualities of the Eucalyptus, which is cultivated in nearly every California garden for its medical utility, having become the household remedy for all diseases of the KIDNEYS, BLADDER and URINARY [illegible]AL, and SEMINAL WEAKNESS. It seems to have a direct affinity for the GENITO URINARY ORGANS and their surroundings, and cures them by its alterative, healing and balsamic properties more effectually than any other known remedy.

It is an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the mucous and serous membranes, such as BRONCHITIS, HACKING COUGH, NAUSEA DURING PREGNANCY, DYSPEPSIA, LEUCORRHOEA, etc.

This preparation is the result of Dr Coleman's experiments with the medicinal properties of the tree in the U S Marine Hospital in San Francisco in 1871 and 1872, where he had unusual facilities for testing the value of the remedial properties thereof and its uses. It can be relied upon as certain to give the promised [illegible]. [illegible] of testimonials of its efficacy can be seen at his office, 305 Kearney street, San Francisco.

COLEMAN'S DOUBLE EXTRACT OF EUCALYPTUS is a powerful yet harmless, [illegible] special preparation for the treatment of the malarious fevers of our interior valleys, and is warranted to cure any case of FEVER AND AGUE treated with it, [illegible] all the baneful results of the usual Quinine and arsenical [illegible] of those diseases are entirely avoided.

FOR PHYSICIANS, Coleman's Fluid Extract of Eucalyptus in 1 lb bottles.

Beware of imitations and take none but COLEMAN'S. For sale everywhere and by HODGE, CALEF & CO, Wholesale Druggists, Portland, Sole Agents for Oregon.

FRIDAY MORNING AUGUST 1[illegible] 187[illegible]

INDEPENDENCE HALL

[illegible]

[illegible] hall for the General Assembly [illegible] Through [illegible] stands [illegible] time.

The steeple [illegible] generally supposed. The roof of the building has been [illegible] as possible. It has [illegible] but was never very [illegible] seems to have been [illegible] through many [illegible]

The first description of the State House which we have any account was given by Professor Kalm the Swedish traveler who visited our city in 1748. He says the greatest ornament he saw [illegible] was the Town Hall having a tower with a bell and greater than Christ Church which is not yet built. The building was commenced in 1729 under the direction of Thomas Lawrence and Andrew Hamilton commissioners, finished in 1734, and the offices adjoining were completed in 1735. The total cost was £5,600. Edward Woolley did the carpenter work, Thomas Bonde the brickwork and William H[illegible] the marble and stone dressing. The ground was formerly higher on Chestnut and lower on Walnut street than it is now, and was graded expressly for the structure. In 1783 the ground in the rear of the State House and now known as Independence Square was laid out and planted, with shade and ornamental trees.

The design of the State House was prepared by John Kearsley M D an amateur architect of the time. Soon after it was completed the colonial legislature met here—the Senate up stairs and the House of Representatives in the room now called Independence Hall. Anthony Morris was then President of the Senate and George Latimer was Speaker of the House. The up-stairs rooms were the largest and were frequently used as a banqueting hall for the city and colonial feasts. In September 1736, William Allen, Mayor gave a banquet at his own expense here to his friends. In 1756 on the arrival of the new Governor Denny a banquet was given in his honor by the colonial authorities. In 1757 Lord Loudon commander of the King's troops in the colonies arrived, and was given a banquet in the State House.

In 1774, the inhabitants of Philadelphia being intensely rebel tendered to the members of the First Congress a grand banquet at the State House, to which five hundred guests sat down. A year later without leave or license, the Continental Congress took possession of the State House and occupied its rooms free of charge, and so determined were the people in favor of independence that it is believed the public feeling of the period had a great deal to do with forcing some shaking members to sign Jefferson's immortal charter of our liberties. Philadelphia was then a unit for a free republic, which she did more to create than any other city and she was foremost in sending her sons to serve the Union she had originated when the war against slavery was inaugurated. Throughout every trial during the last century she has always been found true and trusty to the very core and to the last extremity. In that hall the Congress met day after day and perfected their work. It was their citadel as well as their meeting place for in the cellars and buried in the yards were arms, ammunition and accoutrements ready for use when needed, even if the effort cost them "their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honors."

The Declaration of Independence was read and finally adopted in Independence Hall on the 4th of July, 1776, and on the 8th of July it was read to the people assembled in Independence Square by William Nixon, and was received with shouts of approval. Then it was that the "old bell" (still preserved) in the old steeple (now destroyed) rang out in joyous tones in honor of the event. But afterwards the British captured the city and the people still intensely rebel and true to the cause of liberty, took down the old bell and buried it so that the red-coats could not capture it and take it to England as a trophy. It was preserved and replaced in the old hall and is there to this day. It is cracked badly but can be rung on the 4th of July 1776 with good effect, if necessary.

For many years the upper part of the State House was occupied by Peale's Museum and the lower part was used for court rooms. On the occasion of the retiring of General Washington from the Presidency of the United States he delivered his farewell address in the State House, some say in the room opposite to Independence Hall and others maintain that it was the room now occupied by District Court No 2.

In 1799 the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania met in the State House and had proceedings touching the death of Washington and then proceeded from that hall to take part in the obsequies. When Lafayette came here in 1825 Independence Hall was all torn out and refitted and carpeted for his reception and the room has been used ever since as a sort of reception hall for the Mayor of the city and for the Governor of Pennsylvania and the President of the United States. Upon the consolidation of the city in 1854 Councils took possession of the upper part of the edifice and had chambers for their meetings fitted up.

As is well known, Independence Hall is now being arranged as nearly as it was in 1776 as possible and around the wall will be placed portraits of all the signers of the Declaration of Independence.—Philadelphia Press.

AN EXCITING SCENE IN A BOSTON COURT.—An exciting scene was enacted in the Supreme Court at Boston on Tuesday in which a [illegible] failing of adjustment in the regular process of law was poetically rectified by the [illegible] bystanders. The bone of contention was a young Irish girl Hannah Slatterly, [illegible] who had been living in the family of William Edwards of Southbridge, and who had recently renounced the Roman Catholic faith and joined the Baptist church. The mother who is a Catholic sought to recover possession of her child [illegible] writ of habeas corpus but the Judge dismissed the petition on the ground that he had no jurisdiction as the girl was not restrained of her liberty. The friends of the mother then attempted to remove her by force but were prevented by the bystanders [illegible]

Eastern Markets

Yesterday's dispatches to the associated press contained the following:

NEW YORK August 13.—California sole leather 26½@27c.

California wool is more active and firmer. Spring [illegible]. Boston wool market is active and firmer; manufacturers buying freely. Combing and delaine fleeces are in demand at [illegible]. California is in active demand at [illegible] for good to choice spring, fall from [illegible].

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—We note arrival of small lots of new crop though sufficient to show the excellence of the grain not enough to establish prices. Buyers who wish to transmit immediately are still offering $1 [illegible] ₱ cental. Some of the new crop has been contracted at the quoted prices.

FLOUR—Notwithstanding the advance at San Francisco our market remains stationary as our stocks are small and present rates do not justify shipments. We quote a firm market for superfine $4 ₱ bbl; outside brands $4 [illegible]; standard extra [illegible].

OATS—The receipts are limited to a few lots during the week so far. Prices though low are quite firm and buyers take all good [illegible] offering freely at 40@43 cents ₱ bushel sacked.

BARLEY—No important call beyond the supply of the local demand is noted. We quote at $1 [illegible] ₱ cwt.

HAY—We quote good baled timothy weaker at [illegible] ₱ ton.

FEED—The stocks are gradually growing shorter. Bran is quotable at $17 [illegible] ₱ ton; shorts [illegible]; middlings cheaper at $22 50@25.

POTATOES—The supply is abundant and of good quality. Dealers are more backward in offering than sellers are to take 30 cents ₱ bushel.

ONIONS—Small lots are offered at [illegible] cents ₱ lb.

BACON—Trade continues dull at 8@9c ₱ lb for Shoulders, 10@11c for Sides, 14@16c for Hams, all of common lots. Sugar cured and established brands command an advance of 2@3c ₱ lb.

BUTTER—The supply of common lots is well kept up and for such prices are unchanged and dull. For best quality for table use prices tend upward and are firm.

EGGS—There is a brisk inquiry and with a scarcity of the supply for several days, prices are still at 25@28c ₱ dozen for fresh receipts.

CHICKENS—The limited receipts are freely taken at $4 00@4 75 ₱ dozen for grown Hens and $3 00@3 75 for spring Chickens.

SHEEP—Mutton Sheep are selling on foot according to size, at prices ranging from [illegible] ₱ head.

DRESSED HOGS—We quote at 5@6c ₱ lb and a fair demand.

BEEVES—There are large arrivals of choice Beef Cattle and prices are low. Quotations are furnished at 3½@4½c ₱ lb.

HIDES—Receipts are small and a fair shipping demand keeps prices up fully to former quotations.

WOOL—Receipts light and quotable firm at [illegible] ₱ lb. The total receipts for the season aggregate about 2 000 000 lbs. Much of this has been of a superior quality and had more care been taken in washing and packing the reputation of Oregon Wools would have been an enviable one.

Shipping Intelligence
